

Do NOT change the current ownership rules. The public has the right to a VARIETY of readily accessible (non-cable, non-internet) viewpoints in all markets. The FCC should be protecting the rights of the public, not promoting mega-multimedia corporations or tycoons who want singular control over what we read, see, and hear. Media consolidation will lead to more propaganda and less objectivity.